HE SOUGHT DEATH.

The Unfortunate Napoleon III. at the Battle of Sedan.

Sarah Bernhardt mentions in her memoirs that Napoleon III. had two horses shot under him at Sedan. Some having thrown doubt on her statement and denied that the emperor was ever in personal danger at the time, Baron Verly, son of the late colonel of the Cent Gardes, gives what he affirms to be the authentic account of the unhappy sovereign's persistent attempts to court death when he saw that defeat was unavoidable. On Sept. 1, 1870, at 6 o'clock in the morning, Marshal MacMahon, returning wounded to Sedan, met the emperor riding out to Cazeilles. Napoleon III. realized that the situation was desperate. He rode slowly out, depressed and thoughtful, under a hail of shot. During an hour he inspected the positions. Bullets rained on his escort. Captain d'Hendecourt was killed a few feet away from the emperor. The latter, deliberately seeking death, alighted, ordered his escort to remain behind an embankment and walked up to a cemetery on a height, where he stayed for another hour, exposed to fire. He mounted again and rode to another part of the field. General de Courson and Captain de Trecesson were dangerously wounded by his side, but not a bullet hit him. The emperor at last seemed to despair of meeting his death as he sought it and rode back to Sedan at noon. In the town itself shells fell thick, and while the emperor was riding with his escort up the Grand Rue one burst just in front of him, wounded one of the Cent Gardes and killed the horses of two aids-de-camp. Napoleon III. looked on stolidly, understanding, perhaps, that it was not his fate to die in action. The story that he had two horses killed under him is, therefore, not correct. But there is no doubt that the unfortunate emperor, beaten and ill, a pathetic and tragic figure, did deliberately seek death on the field to escape the disgrace of Sedan which he foresaw.—Paris Letter.

A SERPENT STORY.

Terrifying Experience With a Deadly Lancehead.

The Paris Eclair tells a blood curdling serpent story, the scene of which was the island of Martinique and the dramatis personae Sergeant Legrand and Private Durand and the snake a deadly lancehead.

The soldier had been punished with a night in the cells for some trivial offense, but as the night was very hot the sergeant had left the door open. In the morning at 5 o'clock Legrand went to wake his prisoner and, to his horror, beheld a lancehead snake coiled up and fast asleep on the man's breast.

The sergeant did not lose his presence of mind. He stole noiselessly away, ran to the guard room and, followed by all the men on duty, returned to the cell with a bowl of milk and a tin whistle. Placing the bowl of milk at the entrance to the cell, the sergeant began to play the "Blue Danube." It is needless to remark that the weakness of the lancehead is milk and music. The serpent, which was a six foot specimen, awoke, glided from the soldier's body toward the bowl, but it had no sooner buried its head in its beloved drink than ten cudgels descended on it with terrific force, killing it outright.

The soldier Durand, who was in a swoon, was taken to hospital, where he lay for many days on the verge of madness. He finally recovered and related his horrible experience—how he had awoke in the middle of the night as the serpent was coiling itself on his bare breast and how he had lain there in an agony for hours, not daring to move a muscle.

Durand was sent back to France as soon as he had sufficiently recovered. The only trace of his terrible experience, adds the Eclair, is that his hair is now snow white.

Love's Young Dream.

Another case of the bad boy rudely interrupting love's young dream. A Malate girl and her Romeo sat in close proximity on the couch in the drawing room lost to the world. They were brought back from Eden by her little brother, who, like many of his kind, makes it a practice to butt in at the wrong time. He walked into the room, planted himself in front of the young man and asked:

"Was you ever tied to a fish line?"

"I certainly was not," was the reply

"Well," responded the boy, "I heard pa tell ma last night that you'd make a good sinker."—Manila Gossip.

As to Quotations.

How many persons can unhesitatingly name the source of the familiar quotations? Many a man goes through life without reading a single play of Shakespeare, but probably no English speaking man goes through life without quoting him. If he sneers at "a woman's reason," he quotes Shakespeare; if he refers to "a trick worth two of that," he quotes Shakespeare again.

Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" is not a popular work, but one line of it—"Ask me no questions, and I will tell you no lies"—is known and used by everybody.

Made Him a Songster.

Mr. Stubb (in astonishment)—Gracious, Maria! That tramp has been singing in the back yard for the last hour. Mrs. Stubb—Yes, John, it is all my fault. Mr. Stubb—Your fault? Mrs. Stubb—Indeed it is. I thought I was giving him a dish of boiled oatmeal, and instead of that I boiled up the bird seed by mistake.—Chicago News.

Wisdom is knowledge, sound judgment and good conduct running together in harness and keeping step.

A COMET'S TAIL.

The Way This Filmy Dust Train Is Tossed About by the Sun.

No bridal veil was ever so filmy as a comet's tail. Hundreds of cubic miles of that wonderful appendage are outweighed by a jarful of air.

By means of the spectroscope we have magically transported this fairy plume to our laboratories and have discovered that it is akin to the blue flame of our gas stoves; for the gas by which we cook and the delicate tresses of a comet both consist of combinations of hydrogen and carbon, appropriately called by chemists "hydrocarbons."

When it first appears in the heavens, far removed from the sun, a comet is a tailless blotch of light.

As a comet swims on toward the sun the hydrocarbons of the tail split up under the increasing heat into hydrogen gas and hydrocarbons of a higher boiling point. With a still closer approach to the sun, these more resistant hydrocarbons eventually yield to the increasing heat and are decomposed in the form of soot.

Interplanetary space is airless; hence the soot cannot burn. It must pursue the comet in the form of a dust train. The particles constituting that train are small enough to be toyed with by the pressure of sunlight.

No matter where the comet may be in its orbit, whether it has just entered the solar system or is speeding away, that plume is inevitably tossed away from the sun, just as if a mighty wind were blowing it from the central luminary.

The appendage of shining dust is the symbol of the triumph of light over solar gravitation.—Harper's Magazine.

THE PLANET JUPITER.

What the Man of Science Has to Say About Its Wonders.

The jolly Jovians are said to be realities and not myths. Not only are there said to be inhabitants on Jupiter, but also on some of his moons, in the midst of which the vast planet, 1,300 times the size of the earth, spins at such tremendous speed that it causes around the equator a furious wind that blows perpetually at the rate of 250 miles an hour. Those who believe in the Jovian say that his height runs from fifty to fifty-five feet and that he exists for about 800 to 1,000 of earth years. The Jupiter year, however, consists of 144 months. The oceans of Jupiter, torn into fury by the hurricanes, would pay no attention to one moon such as moves the tides of our earth, and it takes no fewer than five of these satellites to perform this work for Jupiter. They travel at various rates of speed, some flying close to Jupiter's surface, others far off. They have atmospheres like ours on earth, and a moonlight on Jupiter is indeed a glorious sight, for these moons have a variety of color; two are blue, one is yellow, and one red. Jupiter needs all her moons at night for illumination, for without them her five hours of darkness would be black indeed. So distant is the sun that broad daylight is hardly brighter than twilight on earth, and one lone moon would not reflect enough of the sun's rays to guide the Jovian footsteps.

The Human Touch.

"Janie had a doll that would say 'Papa' and 'Mamma.'"

"What became of it?"

"Jane's mother is an advanced person, and she said the doll was an inexcusably childish reminder of a grossly benighted period."

"And what did she do?"

"She threw it in a dark closet where Janie didn't dare to go. And then a day or two later she happened to step on it in the dark and it shrieked 'Mamma!' so naturally that she fell over in a faint and bumped her head and had two buckets of water poured over her before she recovered consciousness."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Anticlimax.

Sir Henry Irving was frequently a victim to the interjections of gallery gods. When playing "Macbeth" one night he had reached that dramatic moment in the banquet scene when in dreadful fear he bids the ghost of Banquo to vanish:

"Hence, horrible shadow, Unreal mockery, hence!"

he exclaimed and, shuddering convulsively, dropped to his knees, covering his face with his robe. As the ghost vanished a shrill voice in the gallery broke the momentary silence: "It's all right now, 'Enery; he's gone!"—London Bellman.

Achill Island.

There are few people who once having seen the island of Achill can forget its beauty. The island lies close to the west coast of Ireland. When the skies are blue, mountains green and smiling, bogs clad in purple and pink heather and the whole picturesque island in sunshine, the place is a wonderland.

Consistent.

"The people who say that women are inconstant and inconsistent," declares the philosopher of folly, "are dead wrong. A few years ago a girl told me she was just twenty-two, and she sticks to the same figures today."—Cleveland Leader.

In His Line.

First Ball Player—I was out so late last night that my wife wouldn't let me in. Second Ball Player—Well, you are used to being "out at home."—New York Press.

We have only two days to live. It is hardly worth our while to spend them in cringing to contemptible rascals.—Voltaire

Charlotte Bronte's Last Tribute.

"He will not separate us—we have been so happy!" These were the last words of Charlotte Bronte when, having become Mrs. Nicholls and having lived with her husband only nine months, death came to snatch the cup of domestic felicity from the lips of the happy pair. A low, wandering delirium came on. Wakening for an instant from this stupor, she saw her husband's woe worn face and caught the sound of some murmured words of prayer that God would spare her. "Oh," she whispered, "I am not going to die, am I? He will not separate us—we have been so happy!"

The Words That Won.

In London one of the weekly papers offered a prize for the best list of strong words to number ten. The announcement specified that but ten words would be considered from any one person and a committee of literary men would select from the numbers offered the ten strongest words in the English language.

These are the words that won: Hate, blood, hungry, dawn, coming, gone, love, dead, alone, forever.

Do you think of any stronger, fuller of suggestion?—Exchange.

Not Herself.

Farmer (to medical man)—If you get out my way any time, doctor, I wish you'd stop and see my wife. I think she ain't feelin' well. Doctor—What makes you think so? Farmer—Well, this mornin', after she had milked the cows, an' fed the pigs, an' got breakfast for the men, an' washed the dishes, an' built a fire under the copper in the wash 'ouse, an' done a few odd jobs about the house, she complained o' feelin' tired-like. I fancy she needs a dose o' medicine.—London Scraps.

Charity.

Clara — At Jennie's wedding last week, owing to a misunderstanding, she had to wait at the church thirty minutes for the bridegroom. Maud—Oh, well, thirty minutes isn't anything to a woman who has waited thirty years.

Anxious.

Professor Stone—To the geologist a thousand years or so are not counted as any time at all. Man in the Audience—Great Scott! And to think I made a temporary loan of £2 to a man who holds such views!—London Telegraph.

Progress Reported.

"Did you have any luck fishing?"

"Yes."

"How many did you catch?"

"I didn't catch any. But I thought up some mighty good stories to tell the folks at home."—Washington Star.

Poker and Bridge.

Knicker—I was sitting up with a very sick friend last night, I tell you. Mrs. Knicker—Yes, I sat up with his sick wife all this afternoon.—Harper's Bazar.

Half of the Pleasure.

The youngest girl of a Baltimore family was recently much distressed at dessert to discover that there was ice cream for dinner.

"Oh, papa," exclaimed the youngster reproachfully, "why didn't they tell me this morning that we were going to have ice cream?"

"What difference would that have made?"

"Lots!" sighed the child. "I could have expected it all day."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Wanted a Pusher.

"What did the new neighbors come to borrow now?"

"They wanted the lawn mower."

"Is that all?"

"That was all they spoke about, but I think from the way they stood around they would like to have borrowed my husband to run it."—Nashville American.

The Modesty of Women

naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

Woman's Progress Since Mohammed.

THE rights of women are being at last recognized in Turkey, where a victory has been won even at the cost of breaking the Koran, and now the fair ones of the Far East may go without veils, which marks a step in the progress of the land of the Sultan. The emancipation of women in some countries has come about very slowly, but the movement which has taken such root in the past twenty years has penetrated into the regions of the most obstinate traditions and the results are manifest.

In conservative England it has been most pronounced this year and the activities of the workers for woman's rights in Finland and Italy have also been marked. In Russia womens' progress was thought to be in such an advanced stage of evolution that it was deemed detrimental to royalty, with the result that the universities of the Czar have been closed to the ambitious daughters of that country.

The "Young Turks," who precipitated the radical change in the religious law which changed the women of their country from relics of barbarism, recognized this to be a necessary step in advancement which was not to be ignored and an astounded world awaits the outcome of the new era.

If the United States of America were to give the power of franchise to women today it would be nothing as radical a change as has taken place in old Turkey. In the latter instance traditions nineteen hundred years old have been broken through, for it was in the time of Mohammed that anything like protection or justice was given to women and since then there has been constant subservience to his code. We have been told by the historian Duruy that Mohammed reformed Arabian family life. He raised the position of women. Daughters had before inherited nothing. He decreed that each daughter should inherit half as much as was received by each of her brothers. Though maintaining the authority of husbands he commanded them to be considerate protectors of their wives. He praised and encouraged those who contented themselves with one wife. The position of woman as a mother was also raised, "A son gains paradise at his mother's knees," and the frightful custom which permitted parents to bury their daughters alive was done away with.

These concessions to women were radical enough for centuries, but the second era in their uplifting has at last dawned upon an ambitious and more enlightened generation. Turkey's destiny is now more promising.

The Keynote of Our Celebration.

LET us by all means dedicate the New City Hall with pomp and ceremony that Sonoma's progress in adopting BONDING as the modern method of public acquisition may go down into history—the first chapter of the new era. Let it rather be a celebration of that generality, that liberal idea of municipal ownership, which is embodied in the New City Hall, for the dedication itself means but ceremony and the structure itself is for the representatives of the people rather than for the people themselves. We would feel the same about a sewer system intended for the use of five city councilmen and the other officers of the municipality, but when the voters carry a bond proposition for a thorough sanitary system for Sonoma then we shall have something for all the people and utility and health rather than vanity and pride will have been considered. As a matter of fact it was perhaps easier to sow the seeds of the bond idea when a harvest of beauty was promised, which goes to show that the Sonoma voter has an eye for the attractiveness of the town. Yet the Creator has done much for the exterior.

The water proposition failed to appeal. The sewer proposition would probably have never carried, for bonding in Sonoma was born of beauty or love of the beautiful. Yet now we have brought it forth this modern idea and let us cherish it that from it may come those other blessings which Sonoma needs. The monument to the method stands there in the plaza. All the possibilities far more important are within our grasp, and we trust the next mass meeting called in this city will be for the discussion of a possible plan for a sewer system.

Remarkable Runaway.

A spirited horse attached to a light buggy became frightened and broke from his fastenings in front of Simmons' drug store last Tuesday. After circling half-way round the Plaza the animal dashed up First-street West and upon reaching the railroad crossing of the Northwestern Pacific the animal made a sharp turn and took to the railroad track. The horse then ran down the track about half a mile keeping in the center of the road-bed and crossing two cattle-guards without injury to himself or the vehicle. When overhauled and brought to a standstill near the Vallejo place a little dog was found seated in the buggy none the worse for his wild ride.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Doings of the Various Sets Throughout the Town and Valley

Supervisor Blair Hart was in town Monday.

Press Davis transacted business in the metropolis Monday.

County Clerk Fred. L. Wright was in town Tuesday.

Peter G. Keil has been spending the week in the metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Murphy of Alameda were here Sunday visiting relatives.

Mrs. E. R. Bryant of San Mateo is visiting her daughter, Dr. Francis Leix of this place.

Miss Bessie Knight is being royally entertained by friends and relatives in Portland, Oregon, and Spokane, Washington.

F Nichelini, the well-known winemaker of Agua Caliente, was in town Thursday shaking hands with his many friends here.

The Kellys accompanied visiting relatives on an automobile ride to Santa Rosa last Sunday afternoon and took in the races in that city.

Local County Committeeman Joseph B. Small attended the Democratic Convention, which convened in Santa Rosa last Wednesday.

R. J. McKeon, with Cunningham, Carrigan & Hayden, the big hardware firm of San Francisco, was the guest of Carlos Emparan last Saturday and Sunday.

The stork visited the Roosevelt Hospital, Berkeley, one day last week, and brought Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morris a baby boy weighing ten pounds.

A. B. Warriner, the well-known contractor and builder, accompanied by his son Alfred Warriner, left for the East the fore part of the week, where they will spend a month visiting relatives.

Mrs. Shotwell, wife of W. J. Shotwell, General Manager of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company, was the guest of Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Boyes several days this week.

Mrs. H. Appleton was given a pleasant surprise party by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society on Thursday evening. About forty ladies were present. For many years Mrs. Appleton has been one of the most active members of the Ladies' Aid Society, and as an appreciation of her worth the members presented her with a beautiful cut glass bowl. The presentation was made by Mrs. M. Stearns in a neat little speech to which the recipient graciously responded.

The contract for the new Congregational church parsonage has been let to Jos. B. Small and work will be commenced on the building without delay.

F. Nichelini will commence wine making next week at his winery northeast of Agua Caliente. He predicts a promising vintage in this valley.

Charles Knoke of the firm of Knoke & Ganter, retail butchers at Mission and Twenty-sixth streets, San Francisco, was brought to the Leix sanitarium Wednesday for treatment of blood poisoning of the right leg. Mr. Knoke came here for his vacation a short time ago and has been a guest at El Verano Villa.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A YOUNG MAN.

Erastus Reed of Agua Caliente Stricken Down With Apoplexy.

Erastus C. G. Reed, son of Mrs. E. Reed, a pioneer resident of this valley, died at his home in the mountains near Agua Caliente last Tuesday from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy suffered the day before.

The young man, he was thirty-six years of age and in the flush of perfect health, left the ranch house about 10 o'clock Monday morning with a two-horse farm wagon to get a load of stove wood about a mile distant from the ranch house. Failing to return long after the noon hour his mother became alarmed and sent a neighbor in quest of her son. At about two o'clock the young man was discovered reclining under a tree He was unconscious and his features were terribly distorted. The horses were found near-by unhitched from the wagon, where they had stood for several hours.

The stricken young man was taken to his home and Dr. Leix was telephoned for. The doctor was soon on hand and an examination of the patient disclosed the fact that he was a victim of apoplexy. The doctor worked over the patient all night, being assisted on Tuesday by Dr. Jesse of Santa Rosa, who had been called into consultation, but without avail, and the unfortunate young man passed away late in the afternoon without regaining consciousness

As Reed was alone when stricken down it will never be known to a certainty what happened after he drove away from the ranch house. There was a large bruise on the crown of his head, which may have been caused by falling from the wagon seat and striking on his head. He had crawled under the tree to escape the rays of a noon day sun and then lapsed into unconsciousness far away from aid or succor.

The deceased was a native of Jasper county, Iowa, but had lived in this valley since a small boy.

The funeral took place Thursday from deceased's Agua Caliente home and the remains brought here and interred in Mountain cemetery.

NINTH SEPTEMBER CELEBRATION.

Mr. J. K. Bigelow, Chairman of Finance Committee, Makes Report of Progress.

It is with pleasure that we make the announcement that the people of the valley have come out most liberally with subscriptions that have given us enough money to make the Ninth of September Celebration a grand success.

By the time we have finished we expect to have close on to one thousand dollars, a showing that Sonoma has just cause to be proud of.

From one end of the valley to the other we have met with most encouraging contributions, from $25 from Mr. and Mrs. Richards of Agua Caliente Springs to $20 from Mr. Landsborough of the Shellville district.

The merchants of Sonoma have contributed most handsomely, the subscription list being headed by Messrs. Duhring and Clewe for $30 each.

The retail liquor dealers have gone down into their pockets and given with a lavish hand, headed by F. Koenig with $25.

The El Verano district has done all in its power, with subscriptions amounting to $175, headed by Mrs. A. Nevraumont & Co. with $25 for the town and Mr. L. L. Lewis with $25 for the outside district.

Following are the collections to date, except Shellville and Glen Ellen, which will appear next week:

DEMOCRATS NAME COUNTY NOMINEES.

Emmet Seawell and A. B. Ware for Superior Judges.

F. T. Duhring of this Place Honored With Chairmanship of Convention.

The Democratic County Convention, which met in Santa Rosa Wednesday, was presided over by Hon. F. T. Duhring of this place, who was accorded the honor by a unanimous vote of the 175 delegates present.

After the convention had been organized the resolutions introduced by the committee upon platform were adopted. These endorse the platform of the Democratic party and the nomination of William Jennings Bryan for President, pledge the Assembly nominees to the passing of a primary election law, oppose the removal of the State capitol to Berkeley, pledges the nominees to the Legislature to enact amendments to the State high school law for the benefit of the country high schools looking to the study of agricultural branches, pledges the preservation of the old Sonoma mission, endorses the recent movement for a system of good roads and the establishment of highways to be built and maintained by the State.

Nominations being in order Hon. Robt. P. Hill of Eldridge named Emmet Seawell for Superior Judge, and Prof. J. S. Sweet nominated Allison B. Ware as his running mate. Both were nominated by acclamation.

For the Assembly, Col. L. W. Juilliard of Santa Rosa was selected for the Fourteenth district and D. W. Ravenscroft of Petaluma for the Thirteenth district.

For Supervisors Blair Hart (incumbent) of Lakeville was nominated for the First District, and Wm. S. Barnes of Santa Rosa and Wm. King of Cazadero for the Third and Fifth districts respectfully.

From a non-partizan standpoint the ticket is about the strongest the convention could have presented for the suffrages of the people, and the only thing lacking to elect it will be the votes.

Appendicitis Patients are Improving.

Mrs. Ed. Johannsen, who was operated upon for appendicitis in St. Winifred's hospital, San Francisco, one day last week, is reported to be getting along nicely and is entirely out of danger.

Reports from the bedside of Mrs. L. H. Green, who underwent a similar operation in St. Francis' Hospital, San Francisco, on Tuesday of last week, state that she is recovering rapidly and will soon be able to return to her home in this place.

Miss Bertha Hays of Petaluma, who was operated upon for appendicitis by her brother, Dr. Hays of this place, has so far recovered as to leave the hospital for her home and is contemplating a trip to the northern part of the county.

Estate of the Late Jean Larquier.

Attorney H. P. Mathewson of this place has filed a petition for letters of administration on the estate of the late Jean Octave Larquier, who lost his life in Sonoma creek one day last week. The petitioner is Madame Marie Debats, a sister of deceased. The estate consists of a lot in El Verano and a sum of money in the French Bank of San Francisco. The heirs are the petitioner, Madame Marie Debats of El Verano, Madame Leontine Jacquemet of San Francisco and Pierre Larquier of France.

Lawn Party at Mrs. F. T. Duhring's.

The annual meeting of the Equal Rights Association of Sonoma will be held next Tuesday afternoon on the private residence grounds of Mrs. F. T. Duhring at 2:30 o'clock. The women of California are about to make a grand rally for the cause and every woman in Sonoma Valley who has any interest in municipal or school affairs is earnestly requested to attend this meeting.

GIACOMO RIGONI MAY SURVIVE WOUNDS.

Remarkable Vitality of a Man Who Received Two Deep Knife Thrusts In Vitals.

That a man's stomach could be penetrated by a deep knife thrust and his liver mutilated by another stab and survive the wounds seems almost incredibable, yet for all that Giacomo Rigoni, the would-be victim of a secret enemy, gives promise of surviving just such wounds, inflicted under the cover of darkness on the 3d inst.

Rigoni, after receiving the all but fatal wounds—one in the back and the other immediately below the breast bone—was taken to the Leix sanitarium, where he has hovered between life and death for nearly a month. Dr. Leix has now announced for the first time that Rigoni may recover.

Luigi Lea, whom Rigoni has accused of inflicting the stabs and who was arrested shortly after the stabbing, still languishes in the County Jail pending the result of Rigoni's wounds, and it now looks as though the charge to be made against him will be one of assault with intent to commit murder instead of the more serious crime.

The accused man still stoutly maintains his innocence.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy.

A pretty young lady dropped in at a book store the other day and stepping up to a counter where a clerk was sorting music, said, "Have you 'Kissed me by Moonlight?'" and the lobster turned about half round and replied, "It must be the other young man at the next counter. I've only been here a week"

A man came into our store the other day and going up to the head clothing man, said, "I'm going to have a fit." He was given a comfortable chair and a glass of water and was asked if we should send for a physician. Then the man began to laugh, and said, "I've been buying misfits in clothing nearly all my life and a friend told me if I'd come here I'd get a fit, and that is really what I want," and it didn't take him long to get it, either. Gee! it's wonderful the way our summer models fit. You see they are made in many different models, from the extreme to the very conservative dresser. And our salesman, either by intuition, good judgment, or both, seems to be able to fit a man better than the average tailor.

Special sale in summer fits all next week. Come in and let us fit you out for the great celebration. Sept. 9th will soon be here.

WONDERFUL MIRAGES.

False Peak of Tenerife and Illusions in the Dardanelles.

The peak of Tenerife is known among deep sea sailors as the "false peak." Owing to some peculiarity of the atmosphere it is always seen by mirage in exactly the opposite direction from which it lies, and only the fact that all captains know that the mirage appears long before the true peak is visible through the most powerful glass prevents many a ship from sailing many miles out of her course. It is hard for a greenhorn to believe that the majestic purple mountain towering astern or on the port beam apparently only a short distance off is in reality miles away in exactly the opposite direction and the seemingly solid earth at which he is gazing is only a reflection on the clear mirror of the air. Many weird tales are told of shipwrecked men who have steered for the false peak in the expectation of finding land and have perished of hunger and thirst while pursuing the phantom mountain.

Sometimes the passengers and crew of a vessel on the lookout for the false peak see a much rarer and more beautiful mirage, that of a ship in the sky. It usually appears about 10 o'clock in the morning, about ten degrees above the horizon and under full sail, every delicate spar and tapering mast clearly visible against the blue ether and even the play of light and shadow in the bellying canvas plainly discernible to the naked eye. It generally remains in sight half an hour or more before gracefully fading away. The oldest mariner can never remember having seen the mirage of a steamer in that latitude, but always that of a full rigged ship, and this peculiar fact has given birth to many romantic legends about the ship in the sky, all connecting it in some way with the false peak.

The vicinity of the Dardanelles is the real home of mirages, and it is seldom that any vessel sails along the Syrian coast without seeing one or more. Oddly enough, the mirages of the Dardanelles are always the reflections of objects that can be seen with the naked eye and are invariably distorted in grotesque and fantastic caricatures of the things reflected. It is certainly startling to see a steamer bearing down with her masts where her water line and should be and the water line where the tops of the masts and funnel ought to show, while her decks are in the right place, thus adding to her uncanny appearance, but this is a frequent sight near the Dardanelles. There is one peculiar feature of the mirages which hover near the false peak—the real objects of which they are reflections are so far away that very often they are never sighted until long after the reflection has vanished, and sometimes not at all.—New York Press.

The Lion's Attack.

As to a lion's method of attack Frederick Courteney Selous says in his book: "As a rule, I think, a lion seizes a sleeping man by the head, and in that case, unless it is a very old and weakly animal, death must usually be instantaneous, as its great fang teeth will be driven into the brain through the thickest negro skull." Similarly, when a lion attacks an animal it tries to get at the head or the throat—at the vitals of the animal. Says Mr. Selous: "My experience is that when a single lion tries to kill an ox or a buffalo it invariably seizes it near the muzzle with one paw and usually succeeds in either breaking its victim's neck or causing it to break it itself by its own weight in falling. When several lions attack an ox or a buffalo they will often bite and tear it all over and take a long time to kill it."

Curious Old Laws.

Some of the old laws of Nepal, India, were curious. Killing cows ranked with murder as a capital offense, for instance. Every girl at birth was married with great ceremony to a betel fruit, which was then cast into a sacred stream. As the fate of the fruit was uncertain the girl was supposed never to become a widow. To obtain divorce from a husband a wife had only to place a betel nut under his pillow and depart. In Nepal the day is considered to begin when it is light enough to count the tiles on the roof or distinguish the hairs on a man's hand against the sky.

Trained.

"My men work well," said a police commissioner, "because they are well trained. Training, you know, is everything."

He paused and smiled.

"Two physicians were discussing," he said, "a certain pretty nurse.

"'Was she a trained nurse?' said the first physician.

"'She must have been,' replied the other. 'She hadn't been in the hospital a week before she was engaged to the richest patient.'"—Washington Star.

A Limited Luxury.

Two Irishmen were discussing the phenomenon of sleep. Said one, "Oi hear as wan av thim poethry lads calls it 'bald nature's hair reshtoorer.'"

"Yis," assented the other; "shlape's a grand luxury. It's a pity a man can't kape awake long enough to injy it. Jist whin he's thinkin' phat a foine long shnooze he'll be hovin', begorra, it's mornin'!"—Judge.

Gallant Lover.

"Silly boy," she said, "why did you get offended? Though my words were severe, you might have seen that I was smiling."

"Well," he replied magnanimously, "your mouth is so small I didn't notice it."—Philadelphia Press.

Try This For Catarrh.

Free tests are now being supplied by mail to all Catarrh sufferers. There is no expense—no obligation whatever.

Dr. Shoop is combining Oil of Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, Oil of Wintergreen, etc., and is incorporating these ingredients into a pure, snow-white cream-like Imported Petrolatum. This Creation—Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy—gives immediate and lasting relief to catarrh of the nose and throat. That all may first test it free, these trial boxes are being mailed without charge, simply to encourage these tests and thus fully demonstrate, beyond doubt, the value of this combination.

If Catarrh has extended down to the stomach or bowels, then Dr. Shoop's Restorative must also be used internally if a complete cure is to be expected. Otherwise the Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy will alone be entirely sufficient. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for sample and book. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Weighty Problems That Are Puzzling Our English Cousins.

A problem is put forward by a writer in a contemporary which gives food for thought. It is this: Suppose by some combination of circumstances you were faced by the alternative of wearing a frock coat with brown boots. Which would be the better way out of it—to wear a bowler or a tall hat? As the writer justly remarks, if you wear a bowler then the thing you have to explain away is the coat. If you wear a tall hat, you have only the boots to account for. We should advise those of our readers who find one morning that all the wearing apparel in the house had been stolen during the night with the exception of a frock coat, waistcoat, trousers, shirt, collar, vest, tie, a pair of brown boots and two hats—one tall, the other round—to cut the Gordian knot by staying in bed. Another of life's dilemmas which may face the traveler down the world's dusty highway has to do with collars. Suppose on arriving at a house for a week end and starting to dress for dinner you find that your evening collars have got wetted by your sponge or otherwise defaced. Should you wear a clean double collar or a dirty orthodox evening collar? In the former case you will be natty, but a thing of loathing to all properly constituted men. In the latter you will give the impression that you cannot afford the services of a laundry.—London Globe.

NAPOLEON'S HABITS.

The Great Warrior Was Fond of Perfume and Clean Linen.

It is pleasant to learn if one has Napoleon I. on the hero list that he had very dainty habits in personal matters; that he was fastidiously clean in his person, according to an article in a French contemporary, and poured eau de cologne into the water he washed in, then sponged his head with perfume and finally poured the remainder of the contents of the flask over his neck and shoulders. He was also extravagantly fond of clean linen and during his campaigns had relays of it sent to different places. In those days it did not cost a farm to have starched things laundered, for, in account with a famous laundress in Paris, the emperor's linen for one wash amounted to 386 pieces and cost only a trifle over $20.

This strikes an American as very reasonable, but his majesty never wore any article but once, and, as he always undressed himself without aid from his valet, his garments were literally cast to the four corners of the room. Napoleon's bill for eau de cologne, however, exceeded the washerwoman's by a large majority. It is a relief to learn that the Little Corporal was so much a dude. Some of his predecessors in the Tuileries were not blessed with such excellent habits if history is to be relied upon.

THE BADGE OF HONESTY

The above illustration represents the several native medicinal plants which enter into Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Stands Alone The one and only medicine for the cure of women's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, the ingredients of which are printed and placed upon every bottle wrapper leaving the great laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., where it is made, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Stands Alone Not only in respect to its known composition, but also as the only specific advertised remedy for women's diseases which absolutely contains no alcohol.

It Stands Alone As the one medicine for women, the makers of which take their patients fully into their confidence and tell them exactly what they are taking. This Dr. Pierce can afford to do because his "Favorite Prescription" is made of such ingredients, and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit—thus placing its merits above criticism.

It Stands Alone As nature's cure for the diseases peculiar to women, and is composed of Golden Seal root, Blue Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Black Cohosh root, Lady's Slipper root and chemically pure glycerine of proper strength, to extract and preserve the medicinal principles residing in the roots employed, for any length of time in any climate. It is scientifically prepared by experienced chemists and pharmacists at the laboratory of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

In the early sixties it was usually the duty of a practicing physician to ride many miles every day on his regular round of visits upon his patients. In those days a young man who had received a careful medical training in one of the best colleges of that day was accustomed to ride ten, twenty and often thirty miles or more, visiting the sick and afflicted. His success was soon phenomenal. Doctors and families called him for consultation to towns at considerable distances by rail. He became especially noted in the cure of obstinate and distressing diseases of women. He had early discovered that by combining the extracts of certain native medicinal plants in just the right proportion, without the use of alcohol, his "Prescription" almost invariably cured such cases. Later, in order to place this remedy before the public in a shape easily to be procured, he established a laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., where regularly qualified chemists and pharmacists were put in charge to accurately prepare his "Prescription" and put it in shape for shipment. This remedy, which he named Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, is not a "patent medicine," but is a real prescription of a real physician in a real practice, and hence the name.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets

These tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules regulate Stomach, Liver and Bowels, cure Constipation and Bad Stomach, attended by foul breath. One or two for a laxative, three or four for a cathartic.
